The Landcare Nursery in Tumut has a wide range of native plants for Landcare projects, garden enthusiasts and for the rural property. The volunteers have been extremely busy and there is now a huge selection of locally native plants available as hiccocells, tubestock and in advanced pots. The Nursery is open Monday to Friday 8.30am to 4.30pm. For further information phone contact Steve 0427 568 131 or tumutlandcarenursery@gmail.com.

Heads up LLS will be having some more Feeding in Dry Times workshops. There is one planned for Cootamundra on 22nd with more locations likely in the Riverina. The presentations will be similar to the RLLS workshops given 23-25 May. The format that worked really well was that the participants could ask questions during the presentations and that gives farmers who are already feeding, feedlotting, using different feed mixes etc to have input. LLS have lots of factsheets on feeding cattle and sheep as well as copies of the presentation by Jim Gibbs from the first round of "Feeding in Dry Times" workshops. The 'Feeding in dry times' event held in Temora was videoed. Please get in touch with LLS in Wagga if you would like their information package, available on a thumb drive.

The 2018 NAB Agribusiness Rising Champions Initiative applications are now open.

The NAB Agribusiness Rising Champion Initiative provides young people (21-35) who are passionate about the beef industry with the opportunity to network with some of Australia's key beef industry leaders and provide contacts that will contribute to participant's career progression within the beef industry.

National Gala Dinner attendees will be given an insight into the Australian beef industry, Cattle Council of Australia operations, the Department of Agriculture and Water Resources (DAWR) operations and network with industry representatives, sponsors, state farming organisations and parliamentary figures.

The professional development workshop will broaden attendees' interpersonal skills.

Please see the attached flyer for more information. The application form and terms of conditions are available to download from the website.

Applicants are required to submit their applications directly to Cattle Council via the email address applications@cattlecouncil.com.au. Applications close on 29 June 2018.

Young people with an interest in agriculture can gain hands-on experience through the Hay Inc Rural Education training program a training program, launched in 2014 to address the Dwindling numbers of jackaroos and jillaroos training on properties.

MURRUMBIDGEE
INCORPORATED

Supported by Australian Wool Innovation (AWI), Hay Inc. gives young people the opportunity to learn the practical agricultural skills needed for them to get jobs on rural properties. Topics covered are based around the production calendar for sheep, wool and cattle. Funding and in-kind support keep the cost to students minimal for the 15 days training with some on farm accommodation and meals also supplied.

Hay Inc is enthusiastic and focused on providing a unique and sustainable “on-farm set of skills” through a “hands on” practical mode of training and is committed to mentoring and networking and encouraging people to become involved in the agricultural industry.

The program is a three-week course, delivered in three blocks of five days', spread over a five-month period (February, March and June). It is focused on wool and livestock production (both sheep and cattle) and is delivered in partnership with local woolgrowers through trainers with extensive experience. Some of the training is also delivered by TOCAL trainers and AWI shearer trainers.

Hay Inc is now taking expressions of interest for the next intake of the rural education program to commence in February 2019. For more information www.hayinc.com.au Email: info@hayinc.com.au Ph: 0439 938 119

Community Development Award Entries close Monday 23 July 2018

Nominations are now open for the 2018 Hidden Treasures Honour Roll. Women are so often the backbone of our communities and work tirelessly and quietly behind the scenes to ensure crucial community groups and services survive. The NSW Department of Primary Industries' (DPI) Rural Women's Network initiated the Hidden Treasures project in 2010 as a special way of acknowledging and celebrating the work of these remarkable women.

We are seeking your help to uncover female volunteers within NSW rural communities to be included in the 2018 Hidden Treasures Honour Roll. You can nominate anyone who is making a difference in your community. This year we are extremely proud to welcome our Aboriginal Ambassador Ms Ann Weldon, who is encouraging nomination and recognition of indigenous women throughout the state.

All rural women nominated will be included in the Honour Roll which will be unveiled at the NSW Rural Women's Gathering in Merimbula from 19-21 October. You can nominate a Hidden Treasures' volunteer online or call 02 6391 3612. Tell us a short 'story' about why your nominee is worthy. Don't forget we need these completed nominations by Monday 30 July 2018!

Nominations are now open for the prestigious NSW Roadside Environmental Management Award sponsored by the NSW Roadside Environment Committee as part of the 2018 Local Government Excellence in the Environment Awards.

The award incorporates, but is not limited to:

- Assessment of roadside environments.

- Preparation of roadside vegetation management plans or similar.
  - Implementation of roadside vegetation management plans or actions to support the roadside environment including staff/contractor training, community education, and demonstrated integration with other council plans or processes.
  - Monitoring and evaluation of roadside vegetation management plans or similar.
- More details and how to apply are provided below.

To celebrate World Environment Day, LGNSW is opening nominations for the 2018 Excellence in the Environment Awards. The Awards recognise outstanding achievements by local government in NSW in managing and protecting the environment. This year the Excellence in the Environment Awards celebrate twenty one years of inspiration from NSW councils in programs, projects and people across 15 award categories. A new category, the Sustainable Infrastructure Award, is available this year. The Awards culminate in two prestigious Local Sustainability Awards: one for overall council performance, and one to recognise the individual achievements of a council staff member or elected councillor in the field of sustainability.

The awards are for projects undertaken during the period from January 2017 to May 2018. All local government organisations are encouraged to put forward an entry. Submit your entry online now. Award Categories

- Asbestos Management sponsored by SafeWork NSW
- Climate Change Action sponsored by the NSW Office of Environment and Heritage

Farm decision making and climate change: Opportunity to participate. Decisions land managers make are based on research, training and often ‘rules of thumb’. These rules of thumb can guide decisions such as when to join, what pastures perform better, what paddocks you use for off shears etc.

Variations we are beginning to experience as part of climate change may have an influence on these accepted rules of thumb. Researchers from the Australian National University and University of Technology Sydney have a current research project exploring agricultural adaptations to climate change and are looking for land managers to help them!

If you choose to participate in this study, researchers will ask you to:

Complete discussions, either in person or over the phone (up to 3 in the year)

Attend one or two (1 day) workshops over the year

Researchers would schedule activities around your availability.

Through combining the expertise of the farmers involved in the study with the research from ANU and UTS, the researchers will develop rules-of-thumb which are useful and appropriate to climate change adaptation decision-making.

For more information, view the project fact sheet here, or contact Steven Crimp, ANU - (02) 6125 7265 or steven.crimp@anu.edu.au.

Landcare NSW has advised the NSW Government and all political parties that the cost of Landcare support over four years is $32.5 million. Because of your hard work, Members of Parliament (MPs) are beginning to understand the issues. But there's more work to do, hence we hope you will read this email and take action.

Our State Minister, the Hon Niall Blair, has received a copy of the Progress Report on the NSW Local Landcare Coordinator Initiative. We encourage all Landcarers to read this report and share it among your networks. It highlights the positive difference Landcare is making with the support of the NSW Government and Local Land Services. Educating our elected representatives about Landcare is an ongoing challenge and a great opportunity. For this reason, Landcare NSW is coordinating a statewide event to reach out to MPs and raise awareness of Landcare. While national 'Landcare Week' would seem the obvious opportunity, this is held in September when the NSW Parliament is in session making it impossible for MPs to attend events in their electorates.

Our aim is to encourage Landcare regions to hold an event to showcase your group and activities to your local Member of Parliament and other candidates in your electorate. This will assist groups to form a relationship with their local MP and other key stakeholders, including Local Land Services. If you already have this relationship, inviting them to an event will help to keep it alive. By holding activities statewide over the course of a week or 10 days we aim to increase our impact and raise awareness of Landcare.

This event may be something you already have planned: a tree planting, a field day, a working bee, a guided walk, an education session...the key is to make sure you invite your local MP! Please invite your Federal MP, too, as we also want to build relationships with representatives in Canberra. The PFL will send a notice to all NSW Members of Parliament encouraging them to accept the invitation to attend a local Landcare event in their electorate and will also encourage them to get in touch with the Local Landcare Coordinator in their region to find out about upcoming events. The PFL Chair Kevin Anderson, Member for Tamworth, has committed to organising a debate (a Notice of Motion) in the Legislative Assembly of the NSW Parliament the week beginning 17 September which will enable all MPs to speak about Landcare in their electorate and the events they attended. In order to ensure the likelihood of your MP being able to attend your event, can you please send out an invitation to the MPs' offices ASAP and at the latest by mid-June.

The annual John Ralph Essay Competition was established in honour of John Ralph, the inaugural Chairman of the Australian Farm Institute. John made a major contribution to the Australian Farm Institute during his six years of chairmanship, and always insisted that comprehensive and objective research should be the basis for policy decisions, particularly for a sector such as agriculture, which has a wide diversity of different commodity groups and business arrangements

The topic for the 2018 John Ralph Essay Competition is: Society should determine the right to farm.

There are two categories for this competition:

- The Open category is open to anyone, including students, farmers, agribusiness participants, policy-makers, consultants, researchers, etc.
- The Novice category is open to persons 25 years of age or under, on Saturday 31st of December 2018.

The two winning entries will be selected by a panel of judges and these will be published in the Summer 2018 edition of the Farm Policy Journal, to be released in December, 2018.

Visit the Australian Farm Institute website for more information.

Entries close 5pm on Monday, 3 September 2018.

Landcare Receives Funding Boost for Dung Beetles Riverina Highlands Landcare Network is embarking on a 2 year project to look at the opportunities for maximising the use of dung beetles to improve pasture condition. With funding secured from Meat and Livestock Australia, the project will conduct a series of field trials to measure changes in cattle dung pads as a result of dung beetle activity. As part of the field trials, up to five species of beetles will be released across 5 participating properties. The producers involved will be helping with monitoring species survival rates and their spread across the property as well as their effectiveness in processing the dung. RHLN is looking for 5 properties geographically spread across the region to be involved in this trial. Landholders interested in being involved in the dung beetle trial should download a copy of the dung beetle project fact sheet and EOI which can be found at www.riverinahighlandslandcare.com.au. During the initial stage of the project the Landcare Network wishes to learn more about landholders current perceptions of dung beetles. We would appreciate you taking the time to complete the following survey. It should take about 5 minutes of your time. Your responses are voluntary, anonymous and will be confidential.
